Panel Discussion and Networking Reception to Advance #MFGwomen

Manufacturing faces a serious skills gap. Meanwhile, women constitute manufacturing’s largest pool of untapped talent in the United States. To combat the gender gap in manufacturing, The Manufacturing Institute launched the STEP Forward networking series to give manufacturers an opportunity to raise awareness of these issues regionally by showcasing existing female talent and providing role models in science, technology, engineering and production careers that can speak to the transformation of the industry.

The Manufacturing Institute and Harley-Davidson are proud to present STEP Forward: Milwaukee, on November 14, an event for manufacturers to discover strategies on how to best lead and adapt working cultures where women can thrive.

CLICK HERE TO REGISTER

Or find out more information at themanufacturinginstitute.org/women

4:30 – 5:00 pm  Welcome Remarks

5:00 – 5:45 pm  Industry Panel

Covering a range of topics, from work-life balance to the perception of manufacturing, this panel will feature key industry leaders to discuss best practices and solutions to attract and retain #MFGwomen.

5:45 – 6:30 pm  POLITICO Women Rule Interview

Women Rule editorial director and POLITICO Playbook-co-author, Anna Palmer, will sit with Julie Ragland, Chair of the Women’s Fund of Greater Milwaukee to highlight the opportunities for women in manufacturing.

6:30 – 7:30 pm  Networking Reception

Please share this invitation with your company and networks. From the C-Suite to the factory floor, it is together that we can take the next STEP Forward.

Engage in the conversation on social media through the hashtag #MFGwomen or follow @TheMfgInstitute on Twitter.

For sponsorship opportunities please contact AJ Jorgenson at ajorgenson@nam.org.